BUTTER RATION MAY BE HALVED

By GUY EDEN

MR ATTLEE, in his speech to the Commons next Wednesday in the two-day state-of-the-nation debate, is expected to announce these cuts in the drive to save dollars:—

BUTTER. Ration down by a half—now represents a weekly average of 3oz.

BREAD. Allowance down by a quarter—to an average of 2½ lbs a month; and PETROL. Ration down by a third—for home and to resort to the 100-gallon basic ration of the spring months.

MEAT is not likely to be cut from today's 1s. worth a week (8d. worth a cooked meal). The cut will not be severe at first, but the ration may be reduced to 8d. worth.

For the MARGARINE ration—today's average is 2½ ozs.—no definite decision has been taken.

SUGAR is also believed to be on the Premier's economy list.

THE CEREMONY—

—AND THE GUESTS

This photograph appeared on the front page of the Daily Express in August 1947. It shows two British soldiers who had been hanged by members of Irgun. What impact would this have on British public opinion?

publicity, winning much sympathy for the Jewish refugees, and was thus a huge propaganda success for the Zionists. As a result of actions like these, the British authorities came in for worldwide criticism.

The British were also exhausted after the war, with food shortages and rationing at home, and could hardly afford to keep 100,000 troops and police in Palestine. After 30 years of trying to solve the problems of Palestine, the British government decided that it would hand it over to the United Nations (UN) in May 1948.

Summary diagram: Terrorism and the end of British rule

Official Jewish policy in Palestine

Before the war
accepted partition, then campaigned against the White Paper 1939

During the war
supported the British and gained military experience

After the war used propaganda (especially in the USA) to gain support for a Jewish state and used terrorism to drive out the British
