artillery was to pose a serious challenge when the Indian Army went into battle once again in 1999.

Indian Army troops appear to have started using this distinctive style of headgear in the 1990s; here it is worn in conjunction with a flak vest. Photographed in August 1999 at Gopalpura, near Srinagar, this machine-gunner has the 7.62mm 1A LMG. (MUSTAFA TAUSEEF/AFP via Getty Images)