

But Mumtaz was near death! She had already gone into labor. And it was taking too long for the baby to be born. She was exhausted from the pain and the heat. She told a doctor that she heard the baby within her crying. That was supposed to be a bad omen.