The procession reached Agra in early January. For now, the body was buried near the Yamuna River. Every Wednesday—the day of the week on which Mumtaz died—Shah Jahan visited the grave. This spot by the river would be the right place, he decided, to build her magnificent tomb.

