another pur, and so on until it reached the level of the Taj Mahal. From there it was directed into the streams around the garden.

