

When the Dalai Lama turned eight, his brother Lobsang left the palace to go to another school. They saw each other for visits, but it wasn’t the same. “I remember, standing at the window watching, my heart full of sorrow, as he disappeared into the distance,” the Dalai Lama said.