

The Nobel Peace Prize Medal

According to Nobel's instructions, the Peace Prize is awarded each year to the person who has tried to create unity between nations, lessened the number of armies, and helped people come together in peace.

The Nobel Prizes were first given out in 1901 and are still awarded every year.