

General Dyer arrived. He brought along ninety soldiers and two armored cars. They blocked the entrance. Dyer ordered his troops to fire their guns on the unarmed crowd of men, women, and children.