

Mohandas Gandhi fought for freedom in India. But he did not fight with weapons. He believed words and actions were more powerful than violence. Above all, he had a simple message-to find truth through love and caring for others. People called him Mahatma , which means “Great Soul.”