

"After they transferred me to Reidsville, Harris Wofford and others strongly urged Mr. Kennedy to try to use his influence to do something about it, and he finally agreed." Greeted by family and friends after being released from Georgia State Prison at Reidsville, after serving time for a traffic violation in 1960. (AP/Wide World)