leading, and their children and grandchildren fol owing.

The next morning I was back at Thumba, physical y exhausted, emotional y shattered, but determined to fulfil our ambition of flying an Indian rocket motor on foreign soil.

On my return from France, after successful y testing the SLV-3 apogee motor, Dr Brahm Prakash informed me one day about the arrival of Wernher von Braun. Everybody working in rocketry knows of von Braun, who made the lethal V-2 missiles that devastated London in the Second World War. In the final stages of the War, von Braun was captured by the Al ied Forces. As a tribute to his genius,
