acknowledge them. They of course bear no responsibility for how I deployed their information and insights.