Third band:

3. Kufic, references to Ghīyāth al-Dīn:
   السلطان المعظم سلطان غياث الدنيا و الدين أبو الفتح محمد ابن سام...

Fourth band:

4. Kufic, turquoise-blue tile letters: titles of Sulṭān Ghīyāth al-Dīn.

Bottom-most section, above base (tallest horizontal division with several interspersed elements):

5. Undulating band forming circles and hexagons, Kufic: Qur'ān XIX:1–98 (Maryām); on east face Qur'ān XIX:34 in stellate knot at apex of large niche motif, probably serving as a miḥrāb.[32]
6. Panel on north face:
   a. craftsman's signature, naskh (Arabic): علي ابن ابراهيم النيشابوري
   b. Kufic: AH 570/1174–1175 CE.
7. Octagonal socle, Kufic: titles of Sulṭān Ghīyāth al-Dīn (eroded).

Lashkari Bazar[33]

VIII. South or Great Palace ("Château du sud")

Exterior of palace:

1. Great Mosque of Forecourt, around miḥrāb:[34]
   a. on flanking wall to north, Kufic: الملك لله (repeated; tentative);
   b. on round pillars flanking north and south, Kufic, Arabic: individual words, e.g., دولة, امة, على, etc.;
   c. among debris, originally on wall surfaces or pillars, Kufic: doxologies, e.g., السلطان لله العظمة لله ، الملك لله
2. South façade, Īvān X, Kufic, Arabic: probable renovation text dated to AH 55x/1156–1165 CE.

Interior of palace:

3. Audience Hall I (northernmost īvān of palace, abutting and looking out on Helmand):[35]
   a. frieze around south entrance (partially in situ), Kufic:
      i. Bismillah;
      ii. Qur'ān XXVII:40–41 (al-Naml).
   b. Brick and terracotta "ring-like" fragments of pillarets forming part of overall decorative program, Kufic: الملك لله
4. Oratory F (southwest of Audience Hall I):
   a. continuous frieze beginning on north wall and continuing