40. This style of script was denoted by the authors (Rehman and Hussain 2011: 66, fig. 12), though without further explication.
41. It is possible that the epigraphic bands were rearranged in the course of the intervening centuries: it is distinctly notable on this façade that the sequence of verses from Qur'ān CVIII is reversed according to the process of circumambulation. This reversal is to be contrasted to the north façade (Pakistan III: 20 and 22), on which the verses of Qur'ān CXII do appear according to the progress of a circumambulating worshiper.
