and his commanders now awaited what would come next. As far as they were concerned, the Americans were about to retaliate.[20]