George Eden, Lord Auckland, the British Governor General, a clever but complacent man with little knowledge of the region.

Emily Eden, one of Lord Auckland’s unmarried sisters and the writer of some of the Raj’s most witty and waspish letters.