11 attacks killing 155 people and leaving more than 340 others wounded (January–March 2011). Of them, 85 people were killed and 179 others injured in 6 different suicide attacks in March 2011 (CMC report, 2011). In 2012, 119 had been killed and 254 injured until June.

According to an estimate, suicide bombings in the country resulted in a total number of 6,477 deaths and 13,378 injuries. The data of suicide attacks, deaths and injuries from 2002 to 2016 are given in Table 5.3.[4]

The targets of these suicide attacks were security and intelligence personnel and offices as well as civilian population. Many attacks targeted Shiʿa, Ahmadis and the Barelvis, shrines and moderate mullahs. Most of the suicide bombers hailed from KP and tribal areas, mostly ranging between 14 and 25 years of age. In 2017, however, most of the suicide attacks took place in Balochistan province. Although the overall frequency of suicide attacks declined in Pakistan, it remained high in Balochistan.
