meeting of central committee (Majlis-e-Shura) of TTP. Waliur Rehman Mehsud was responsible for brutal deaths of hundreds of innocent Pakistanis and scores of soldiers. According to sources, he was responsible for fund collections for TTP through bank robberies and kidnappings. He was an astute planner who reportedly masterminded attacks on Islamabad Marriot Hotel and on CIA setups in Khost, Afghanistan. He was considered a possible successor to Hakimullah. He appeared in a video with Hakimullah and Ehsanullah Ehsan in December 2012. He carried a bounty of Rs 50 million on his head announced by the government of Pakistan as well as $5 million reward from the US, which had enlisted him as a 'specially designated global terrorist'. He was closely associated with the Haqqani network that operates in Afghanistan.