		along with his five sub-commanders in a drone attack in Sra Kanda village in South Waziristan on 2 January 2012. He was 38 years old. He belonged to the Kakakhel sub-tribe of the Ahmadzai Wazir tribe. His namaz-e-janaza (funeral prayer) was held at Azam Warsak, 12 km west of Wana and was buried in Zari Noor village graveyard.		accord with the government in 2007 and pledged not to fight against Pakistani forces. But he did not like to be termed as a pro-government Taliban commander. Nazir openly supported Mullah Omar and Osama bin Laden and waged jihad in Afghanistan. More senior Al Qaeda leaders had been killed in Nazir's tribal areas during the US air campaign than in those of any other Taliban leader in Pakistan.
11.	Bahawal Khan, alias Salahuddin Ayubi	He was appointed head of Maulvi Nazir Group after his death in drone attack on 2 January 2012. He too belongs to Kakakhel tribe of Ahmadzai tribe. Belongs to Speen village, located 20 km east of Wana.	TTP. Maulvi Nazir Group.	He was quite close to Maulvi Nazir and had been involved in 'jihad' in Afghanistan for a long period. All companions of Maulvi Nazir agreed to nominate him as the successor of Maulvi Nazir instead of Qari Zia ur Rehman. Salahuddin initially refused to become the Commander but agreed when all elders and militant commanders insisted that he should become the commander. He declared that he would continue the mission of his late friend, Maulvi Nazir. He is known to be a hardline commander.
