23.	Maulana Fazlullah	Maulana Fazlullah is the leader of the Movement of the Taliban in Pakistan in Swat.	TTP	Swat.	Fazlullah led the Taliban takeover of Swat in 2007 and fought the Pakistani army to a standstill in 2007, 2008 and 2009, when he forced the government into a humiliating peace agreement that essentially ceded much of northwestern Pakistan to the Taliban. His father-in-law is Sufi Muhammad, the leader of the radical TNSM, or the Movement for the Enforcement of Mohammed's Law. Fazlullah over-reached in early 2009 when his forces advanced into the district of Buner, just 60 miles from Islamabad, and threatened neighbouring districts. The military launched a major offensive and ousted Fazlullah's forces, but the Taliban have since returned and waged a low-level insurgency.
24.	Ibin Amin	Ibin Amin is Fazlullah's military commander.	Movement of the Taliban in Pakistan.	Swat.	Ibin Amin is Fazlullah's military commander and the leader of the Tora Bora Brigade, a unit in Al Qaeda's paramilitary Shadow Army. He led the invasion of Buner.