ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The seed for this volume was sown at a workshop titled “India and the Great Powers” that the Norwegian Institute for Defence Studies (IFS) and the Manohar Parrikar Institute for Defence Studies and Analyses (IDSA) organised in New Delhi in November 2016. We extend our gratitude to both these institutions for their financial, institutional, and intellectual support in making the publication of this volume possible.

We are grateful to all the contributors. In addition to enriching it with their excellent chapters, they have been patient with some unavoidable delays we faced in the process of preparing the volume for publication.

Our sincere thanks to the four anonymous referees whose comments helped us improve the theoretical framework and our contributors enrich their chapters.

We thank Routledge India, especially Shoma Choudhury, the commission ing editor, and her team, including Shloka Chauhan, for their support and efforts to transform the manuscript into a printed volume.
