47 On January 22, 2013, the Philippines instituted arbitral proceedings against China under Annex VII to the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea. The Permanent Court of Arbitration in The Hague, in the Netherlands, served as Registry in the arbitration. The arbitration concerned the role of historic rights and the source of maritime entitlements in the South China Sea, the status of certain maritime features in the South China Sea, and the lawfulness of certain actions by China in the South China Sea that the Philippines alleged to be in violation of the Convention. China adopted a position of non-acceptance and non-participation in the proceedings. For more information, see the website of the Permanent Court of Arbitration, https://pca-cpa.org/en/cases/7/.
