

My mum was always so encouraging of my sporting ambitions.

I had so many sports heroes, especially Daley Thompson and Boris Becker. I was constantly watching sports stars on TV and trying to be like them.

My dad helped fire my competitive spirit – both of us hated losing.