antisemitism, linked to hatred of Israel, has had an immense amplifying effect. It is angering and very sad to see this despicable fanaticism spread far and wide.

The liberation of hostages is taking place. Tomorrow the negotiations and decisions will be much more difficult.

Friday, December 1

The situation is unclear: on the one hand, fighting has resumed on both sides, but is relatively low key; on the other hand, there is still talk of continuing negotiations.

The horrendous failure in IDF readiness before October 7 comes to light more and more starkly. According to the New York Times, the IDF had obtained a forty-page document with the title "Jericho Wall" describing in exact detail the Hamas attack plan—a year before it happened. It was dismissed as being beyond Hamas's capabilities. A few months later, a noncommissioned officer of Intelligence Unit 8200 repeated the warnings in full detail and again the warning was dismissed. When she didn't back down and repeated her warning once more, the commander of the Gaza area put an end to it. All of this is being discussed in Israel these days and is not considered fake news. It is not clear whether Netanyahu was informed of "Jericho Wall" or not. In any case, the dismissal of these warnings did perfectly fit with his theory about Hamas being merely interested in economic advantages and nothing more.

Apparently, Unit 8200 has brought in psychologists to investigate what went wrong with the group. It is clearly suffering from excessive homogeneity, collective narcissism, and fear of rocking the boat. My recollections are from the early 1950s, when the unit still went under the name Intelligence 2, but I can at least confirm the extreme homogeneity of that part of the unit I served in. But as far as I remember, it wasn't so in the
