

A Soviet nuclear warhead bunker under construction at San Cristóbal, photographed by low-flying US reconnaissance aircraft. US intelligence was unable to verify the presence of nuclear warheads, but correctly assumed they were present on the island. In fact, there were some one hundred and sixty Soviet nuclear warheads in Cuba. (Public Domain: NARA record)

