Soviet Meteor FKR-1 ground-launched cruise missile. Unbeknownst to US intelligence, eighty nuclear-capable Meteors, were sent to Cuba together with their nuclear warheads. One regiment of these was earmarked to attack the US naval base at Guantanamo Bay. (CC. Martin TrolleMikkelsen)

USAF F-102 Delta Dagger. On 27 October 1962, two F-102s scrambled to protect a U-2 aircraft that had strayed into Soviet air space over Siberia. Both interceptors were armed with air-to-air nuclear missiles. (Public Domain: United States Air Force)

Soviet Ilyushin-28 jet bomber. Thirty-three naval aircraft were initially sent to Cuba as part of Operation Anadyr. In September 1962 Khrushchev decided to send an additional nine air force bombers with six RDS-4 Tatyana nuclear bombs. (CC. WAF)