

The Executive Committee of the National Security Committee (ExComm) brought together President Kennedy's senior advisors. The president secretly recorded their conversations, so historians know exactly what they (and the president) said at these meetings. (Public Domain)