118. Non-co-operation was a non-violent form of protest against the Indian government. It involved, among other things, encouraging Indians to withdraw from British-founded schools, renounce British honours and boycott British goods. For more detail on the movement, see Low, 'The Government of India and the First Non-Cooperation Movement – 1920–1922', The Journal of Asian Studies , Vol. 25 (1966), pp. 241–259 and Naeem Qureshi, op. cit., pp. 233–317.
