After receiving Brandt in Moscow in 1970, and in Crimea in 1971, Brezhnev eventually visited Bonn in May 1973, paving the way for regular political consultations, broader economic ties and intensive scientific, cultural and tourist exchanges.