Climbing the Ladder

1. And it is here that there appears to be some deliberate blotting out of the historical record. An account in Heinz Lippmann's 1971 biography Honecker republished a version of events from a Mrs Vera Kuchenmeister which states on returning to Berlin, Honecker stayed with her family in an apartment near the Alexanderplatz – this clearly never happened.

7. His only rival for the post, Paul Verner –a young, dynamic politician – replaced him as KPD youth secretary. Although Paul Verner was widely seen as the more dynamic candidate, Ulbricht appreciated Honecker's submissive, obedient manner. (According to biographer Dieter Borkowski, some observers considered Verner 'downright devious'.)
