

To satisfy the perennial quest of appearing engaged in seeking better relations with Bonn, Willi Stoph met Willy Brandt to try and ‘establish normal relations by treaty’ and find common interests between their states.