was accompanying her to Germany.

Léa turned away from her sister and sank into the seat, saying nothing. What had she done?