Khrushchev and comparison of Khrushchev to himself decision to give Khrushchev time J. F. Kennedy's basis for action Khrushchev's deception of Khrushchev's liking for as partners in preventing mutual disaster question of Khrushchev's respect for relations between Macmillan and McNamara and meeting with Gromyko (Oct. 17) military and failures of military strengths of military missiles in Turkey and "rules of the precarious status quo" of secrecy kept by shying away from Congress by, reasons for Soviet deception and Stevenson and warning by, on use of SAMs Khrushchev, Nikita S. acceptance of proposal by (Oct. 27) allowing time for reactions of assurances on SAMs by confusion in Soviet Union and J. F. Kennedy and, see Kennedy, John F., Khrushchev and memoirs attributed to October 22 letter to October 23 letter from October 23 letter to October 25 letter to October 26 letter from October 27 letter from October 27 letter to peaceful intentions of proposed communications to B. Russell and summit meeting with