students shared with me. While that struggle continues, I am truly indebted to my parents who were always there for me. In particular, Zareena Saeed for engaging in long discussions and for showing me the possibility of hope in my own work. I am also grateful for her meticulous feedback on my writing. She continues to be my most constructive critic and strongest supporter, for which I am eternally grateful.

Tania Saeed
Cambridge, July 2019