About the Technical Reviewer

Matt Zandstra has worked as a web programmer, consultant, and writer for over two decades. He is the author of SAMS Teach Yourself PHP in 24 Hours (three editions) and is a contributor to DHTML Unleashed. He has written articles for Linux Magazine, Zend, IBM DeveloperWorks, and php|architect Magazine, among others. Matt is also the author of the Apress book PHP 8 Objects, Patterns, and Practice, Volumes 1 and 2.

Matt was a senior developer/tech lead at Yahoo and an API tech lead at LoveCrafts. He now runs an agency that advises companies on their architectures and system management and also develops systems primarily with PHP, Python, and Java. Matt also writes fiction.