```
        $alertType = 'info';

        $user->notify(new UserAlertNotification($alertMessage, $alertType));

        // Render the dashboard view (which will display notifications).

        return view('dashboard');

This above snippet sends an in-app alert to the authenticated user each time the Dashboard's show method is invoked.

Displaying In-App Alerts

The next step is to retrieve and display these notifications within your application. Typically, you might add a notifications dropdown or a dedicated section in your layout. In any Blade view (for example, your main layout file you can access the
