Assails School District 'Walls,'" Los Angeles Times, August 13, 1963, 2.

21. This was unlike another localized, strategic American identification with the Wall, "Remember Berlin Day," organized in part by the CIA-funded Radio Free Europe, which commemorated the first anniversary of the Berlin Wall in over seventy American cities on August 13, 1962. For more on "Remember Berlin Day," the efforts by the Free Europe Committee (operators of Radio Free Europe) and the American Friends of Captive Nations to commemorate the first anniversary of the Berlin Wall in American cities, see box 49, CTEP.

22. Al Kuethner, "Atlanta's 'Berlin Wall' Divides Races," Chicago Daily Defender, December 24, 1962, 3.

23. "New Pressures Forcing Integration of Methodist Church," Chicago Daily Defender, March 2, 1963, 15.

24. Leonard, Call to Selma, 28. See also "Erect 'Berlin Wall' Block to Ease Tensions in Selma," Chicago Daily Defender, March 15, 1965, 1.

25. U.S. Commission on Civil Rights, Time to Listen, 65 (Boston); Foner, Story of American Freedom, 267 (Los Angeles); "'Chicago Wall': Dr. King Talks in Lansing," Chicago Daily Defender, March 12, 1966, 1 (Chicago); "Gregory Says, 'They Kick You Hard,'" Pittsburgh Courier, May 18, 1963, 29 (Birmingham); Clarence Mitchell, "From the Work Bench: Deerfield Stands for Hate," Afro-American, April 27, 1963, 4 (Deerfield); "Tension Grows in Greensboro, Barricade Separates Races," Chicago Daily Defender, July 28, 1965, 3 (Greensboro); "Dr. King Assails Policy at Girard: Likens Wall at Philadelphia School to Berlin Wall," New York Times, August 4, 1965, 19 (Philadelphia); "Small Towns Erect Negro Berlin Wall," Chicago Daily Defender, August 23, 1965, 7 (Rich Square); "Suburb Race-Wall Said to Outstrip Dixie Barriers," Chicago Daily Defender, October 25, 1965, 5 (St Louis); Leslie Cheek, "White Neighbors' Wall Stirs Negro Residents," Washington Post, June 5, 1966, B3 (Arlington); "Freedom News," Crisis, December 1966, 535 (Wheaton); Gertrude Wilson, "There's Only Isolation," New York Amsterdam News, August 12, 1967, 17 (Newark).

26. Langston Hughes, Jericho-Jim Crow, in Hughes, Rampersad, Hubbard, and Sanders, Collected Works of Langston Hughes; Miller, Siege of Harlem. For more on Hughes's 1964 visit to West Berlin, see Hughes, "Berlin Today," Chicago Daily Defender, April 3, 1965, 8, and LHP.

27. "Magnum, n.," Oxford English Dictionary Online (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2000).

28. Ritchin and Frydman, Magnum Photos, 1.

29. Freed's focus on Germany also had much to do with his identity as a Jew of European descent and his being the husband of Brigitte, a German woman raised in the period of postwar reconstruction. Freed's parents escaped a hostile Europe (his father by way of Palestine) and settled in Brooklyn, only to realize years later that they became "survivors" of the Holocaust. According to Stefanie Rosenkrantz, Freed's friend and colleague, "[Freed] told me how he once came home from school in Brooklyn and found his father lying on the kitchen floor, hitting his head on the tiles, while holding a crumpled letter in his hands and crying. The letter said that most of his father's family had been murdered in Europe. A once large family of grandmothers, uncles, aunts, cousins, nieces, nephews and brothers and sisters had been killed by the Nazis. There were now only a handful of survivors" (Freed, Leonard Freed, 6).

30. Duganne, Self in Black and White, 21.

31. Freed, Ewing, and van Sinderen, Worldview, 15.

32. Ibid., 98.

33. Ibid., 104.

34. Freed interviews; 1963 Working Schedule (uncataloged), LFP.

35. Abbott, Engaged Observers, 18.

36. Freed, Ewing, and van Sinderen, Worldview, 204.

37. For more on Freed's images from the March on Washington, see Freed, Bond, Dyson, and Farber, This Is the Day.