It can happen that the personal drama of an artist reflects within half a century the crisis of an entire civilization.

—JOHN BERGER