Shevchenko asserts that he is anti-Zionist but has great respect for Orthodox Judaism. He supported Il'ia Farber, a Jewish village teacher arrested by the FSB, for example, and criticizes the neo-Nazi parties, but he soon reveals his underlying antisemitic views.[25] In criticizing the Russian tycoons, he almost exclusively points to the oligarchs with obviously Jewish names.[26] In another case, he expressed his opposition to the idea of the "Russian World," preferring the term "Orthodox World" because "Brighton and Haifa may also belong to the 'Russian World.'"[27] He accuses the Hungarian party Jobbik and the Greek "Golden Dawn" of antisemitism, butt praises the Freedom Party of Austria, Marine Le Pen's Front National and the Greek Party Syriza claiming: "We proud of all who today in Europe say in German "Volksvertreter gegen die Verräter." People's representatives against European [sic] traitors."[28]

Shevchenko does not hide his anti-Zionism but tries to present it as a development in his struggle for global justice. Therefore, he blames Israel for almost every event in the Middle East. Thus, according to Shevchenko, the only threat in the region is not Iran's nuclear program, but Israel and its allies—"Saudi Arabia and the right-wing Republicans."[29] In 2013, he accused Israel of poisoning Yasser Arafat with polonium, arguing that it was in response to Arafat's refusal to transfer the land under the Al-Aqsa Mosque in order to reconstruct "so-called" Temple.[30] He grossly exaggerated Israeli brutality and its alleged control over the United States:

> They [Israelis] killed many Palestinian leaders in various countries of the world. They poisoned them, strangled. . . . They strangled one of the Hamas leaders in Dubai. Anytime when they kill some Palestinian in the territory of another state, they declare him a terrorist that they have to kill. It means they—the Israeli security service—commit acts of terror. . . . [and] always go unpunished from prosecutions, from lawsuits. Why, how? I do not know. Ask AIPAC that makes its lobbying efforts in the USA at the level of the Congress—maybe they will explain why they [Israelis] go unpunished after committing terror acts all over the world?[31]

Shevchenko wants Russians and Palestinians to form closer ties based on their "common destiny," and to widen the gap between Russians and Israelis:

> Russians correlate with Palestinians and not with Israelis. Israelis are migrants that came from different countries, have armed themselves [and] expelled the indigenous population. One tries to force us to think that Russians and Israelis are peoples with a common destiny. Palestinians and Russians are the peoples who have the common
