Protocols of the Elders of Zion were published "in more than 150 installments by the establishment newspapers Ettela'at and Jomhuri-ye Eslami, as well as in several book editions that were distributed in the Arab and Muslim world and in Western countries."[16]

Thus, at the Iranian stand at the Frankfurt Book Fair 2005, this author was able to purchase a complete English edition of the Protocols of the Elders of Zion, published by the "Islamic Propagation Organization of the Islamic Republic of Iran." Its foreword explains the purpose of this publication: "to expose the real visage of this satanic enemy" in order to "awaken the Moslems to this great danger." Zionism, the editors continue, is a "deadly, cancerous tumor" that must be eliminated. After a call to "Jihad against this menace," the English text of the antisemitic tract follows.[17]

At the same Iranian stand at the Frankfurt Book Fair, this author also bought an English copy of Henry Ford's The International Jew, published by the Tehran-based "Islamic Culture and Relations Organization" in 1997. In the preface, the editor wrote: "The grip of the Jewish parasitic influence has been growing stronger and stronger ever since [Henry Ford's time]. The Jewish danger—now called Zionism—is. . .directed against the entire humanity."[18]

Second, since the Islamic revolution, this idea of a Jewish conspiracy has been radicalized. In a presidential speech on Quds Day in August 2012, Ahmadinejad maintained that "the Zionists planned World Wars I and II. . . with the aim of controlling others." He continued: "All the main centers of power, the strong governments, the banks, and the major media in the world are in the hands of the Zionists, and they exploit them all, with the aim of destroying cultures, values, nations, and the existence of states."[19]

Moreover, in August 2013, Iran's "moderate" new president, Hassan Rouhani, blamed the "Zionists" for pulling the strings against the interests of the American people: "Unfortunately, a pressure group in the U.S., which is a warmongering group and is against constructive talks, is [pursuing] the interests of a foreign country and mostly receives its orders from that foreign country. . . . The interests of one foreign country and one group have been imposed on the members of the U.S. Congress."[20] In 2014, he even used the platform of the United Nations to proliferate his conspiracy theories with regards to the terror state ISIS by claiming that, "certain intelligence agencies have put blades in the hand of madmen, who now spare no one."[21]

Another escalation, never conceived of by Khomeini, relates to the denial of the Holocaust. Whoever calls the Holocaust a "myth" implicitly portrays the Jews as a group of people who for filthy lucre have been duping the rest of humanity for the past seventy years. This incitement started in April 1998,
