their own. The same could be said of the Christians, who have usurped Jesus, who is supposedly a Muslim prophet.

The objective of the Amman Conference was to establish a global strategy for the re-Islamization of Jerusalem (al-Quds). The lecturers emphasized the major importance of Muslim-Christian solidarity in driving Israel out of Islam's holy city. They proposed a whole range of schemes, including the adoption of the Muslim and Christian holy sites in al-Quds by all the mosques, churches, monasteries, and Muslim and Christian institutions the world over. They recommended a vast joint Muslim-Christian campaign at the United Nations, in the United States, among international NGOs and on a global scale. Al-Quds was to be promoted through film, television, music, and festivals, under the supervision of a special Muslim and Christian group. Such a program is reminiscent of both the Anna Lindh Foundation and the Alliance of Civilizations' policy for a Muslim-Western cultural union. This plan, well exposed in the book of the Conference, triggered the Kairos-Palestine campaign conducted by both Western and Arab clerics on a global level.[12]

Conclusion

Antisemitism, we know, has many facets. Today it is a movement moulded by the characteristics of our age: it is global. Europe is no longer its only source, although European states and particularly the European Union, gives it abundant funding as well as media, cultural, political and strategic support. In fact its main source is the OIC, which by its numerous commissions and sub-commissions, infiltrates and pressures all international UN bodies. For instance, UNESCO (the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization) recently stated that the Patriarchs' Tombs in Hebron belong to Palestinian patrimony. This act carries a profound meaning since Muslims believe that the Hebrew patriarchs, beginning with Abraham, were all Muslim (Sura II: 120–136).

Thus the UNESCO decision ratified the Islamization of the Hebrew patriarchs, an allegation contrary to all rationality which relies solely on the Koran. Such a decision has serious consequences not only for Jews but also for the Christian world whose roots have been Islamized. Moreover, it proclaims to the whole world, Muslim and non-Muslim, that the word of the Koran is the truth and supersedes all historical evidence and objective truth.

The new global antisemitism is triggered by jihadist ideology aimed at destroying Israel—deemed a non-people usurping Muslim history. The war against Israel unfolds according to jihadist strategy and legislation. European
