29 June: Bhutan issues another protest against the construction of the road.

1 August: The Chinese foreign ministry issues a 15-page document accusing India of using Bhutan as a ‘pretext’ to interfere in boundary talks between China and Bhutan. The confrontation leads to a stand-off between Indian and Chinese forces on the Doklam Plateau.

28 August: India and China agree to withdraw their respective forces from the Doklam Plateau.