many scenic places are out of reach of the people and thus I advocated the concept of heliports. We were very pleased when the tourism ministry agreed to develop Mechuka, one of the most beautiful valleys in Arunachal, as the first tourist heliport in the state. Arunachal Pradesh is an inalienable part of our country and we must provide easy access and facilities to as many Indian and foreign visitors as possible so that they can see the natural beauty of the state.