PART VI

REFLECTIONS

'Today, it would be unwise for any country to start a war that it cannot win, and to use nuclear weapons would be the height of folly.'