Appendix 1

Dated: 22 Dec 04

My dear General,

1. Reference my introduction with you on dinner 10th Dec.04 at 2 Corps Officers Mess.

2. I happened to be in BARAMULLA on a private visit to a distant relation, the day fatal attack came on you in the summer of 1992, and you are bestowed with second life. The militants had planned and rehearsed the operation so well that they were saying, "Even Allah cannot save Brig SINGH today".

3. The militants had placed 30 benches all along the outer boundary wall of the Govt. High School Baramulla, where 2 men were to stand on each bench and third man was to stand behind each bench for providing them with filled magazines. In addition they had two logs of wood with 4 men on each log to be placed as roadblock. They had also kept a sleeper studded with nails to be placed on the road for puncturing the vehicles.

4. Their EW system was working well to know about your movements. That is why as soon as your convoy reached the killing zone, all the militants who had taken positions on the benches stood up at once and started indiscriminate firing on you with the single aim of killing Brig Singh.

5. As the militants were sure of your death they had placed a powerful stop in a U turn on Sri Nagar road 2 km ahead of Govt. Degree College, Baramulla to snatch your dead body reaching Sri Nagar.

6. The next day when my relation came to drop me at Sri Nagar showed me this site on the way and also showed me the school from where they had brought very heavy fire on you. The benches were still there when I saw the site.

7. I shiver even today when I recollect this incidence. But then one always wonders the strange ways of God and no one can know what fate holds in store for each one of us.

May God! Give you long life and good health to lead one of the largest armies in the world.

With regards and best wishes,

Yours,sincerely,

Lt Gen J J Singh
AVSM PVSM
GOC – in – C
Western Command
Chandimandir

(names deleted for reasons of confidentiality)