

Decorated with the Param Vishisht Seva Medal by President A.P.J. Abdul Kalam, 2004.

Talking of his journey back, he said that they were moved in buses upto Myitkyina and then started trekking through the forests of northern Burma towards Nagaland. En route they had a number of clashes with the Burmese Army and even suffered some casualties. They pressurized the Burmese villagers to give them food and shelter, without giving them adequate compensation. Sometimes they went without food and survived on opium. When he
