

Surrender by Naga rebels, March 1969:
Top: Inspecting the first AK-47 captured by us. Above left: The first Naga rebel captured by us. Each of the rebels was carrying arms and ammunition loads weighing 30–40 kgs. Above right: Chinese weapons captured from a small group of General Mowu Angami's gang (AK-47, pistol, rocket launcher, sniper rifle, stick grenade, ammunition and mortar bomb).

During this tenure in Nagaland, I did the basic and advanced courses in mountaineering at the Himalayan Mountaineering Institute (HMI) at Darjeeling under the legendary Tenzing Norgay, Nawang Gombu and Lieutenant Colonel Narinder Kumar. I got an
