struggling to articulate: ‘Lord’s will be my last Test. Been an amazing 20 years. Couldn’t have done it without the support of so many people. Mainly Daniella, Lola, Ruby, my mum and dad. Excited for the future. That’s the gist’. The next morning, Greg has taken the gist and written me something to post out, and we record an ‘emergency’ Tailenders, where I say it how I want to say it. It’s comforting, in its own way, but no less surreal, the words still not fitting me as they leave my mouth.

I don’t know how it all feels yet. All I know is, I have two games left of cricket to play, one at Southport for Lancashire against Nottinghamshire, and then one at Lord’s for England against the West Indies. Beyond that, everything is unknown.
