other, there is no time to really think about the circumstances taking me there alongside them, it’s all just forward momentum, running in fast, thoughtless and effortless.