php artisan serve

Then do as usual like login to your application, navigate to your user profile settings, and locate the two-factor authentication options. You can simply follow the on-screen instructions to enable 2FA, which typically includes generating a QR code that you scan with an authenticator app (such as Google Authenticator) on your mobile device. Your application will also generate recovery codes that you should store securely.

All these steps get you the integrated two-factor authentication into your app.
